Solo 90

An agile workspace needs an agile wall.

Solid walls are the enemy of the agile workspace. So when a global management consulting firm wanted a boardroom that could quickly be enlarged, the obvious answer was the Solo110 Moving Wall.

The installation presented a challenge, as the external fabric of the building could take no additional load. The solution was to incorporate a steel post into the wall jamb to transfer the load to the floor structure. This was no problem to Creatif, who always assess each project individually, and design the system accordingly.

The panels of the moving wall were constructed from white MFC and the system gives an acoustic insulation performance of 44dB.

So some agile thinking by Creatif delivered a flexible moving wall solution for an agile workspace.
