The Food and Drink Federation (FDF) is the voice of the UK food and drink industry, the largest manufacturing sector in the country.

The FDF had been operating out of their previous offices since the 1980s, and called in Peldon Rose to help upgrade its new offices, located on the sixth floor of 10 Bloomsbury Way, London.

Key to the brief was the need to give the FDF's staff flexible ways of working, as well as to provide an excellent experience for the federation's members.

Creatif was approached to help enhance flexibility within the space in the form of an operable wall.

As large-scale meetings are common within the FDF's offices, our slim, acoustic glass moving wall system - Domino - was the ideal choice.

Domino gives the FDF the option to open up its entire reception area when required. Conversely, it can be closed off to create separate individual meeting rooms as well.

With mechanical seals that do not require manual-winding, Domino is able to adapt to the space within minutes and is incredibly user-friendly.

And with it being a glass system, it allowed a maximum transfer of light between rooms whilst guarding against excessive noise transmission due to Domino's acoustic rating.
