Located in the city's thriving central business district, 180 West George Street is one of the most sought-after office addresses in Glasgow's thriving business district.

In late 2018, professional services giant Peninsula announced it would be relocating to the Grade A building in late 2019.

After signing a five-year lease, Peninsula appointed Insite Contracts to oversee the fit out of the 8,324 sq ft fourth floor.

The design plans called for two glass-lined meeting rooms to be joined and separated as and when required.

Solo, our market-leading moving wall system, was chosen for this task, for obvious reasons.

Aside from being easy to operate, the 110 system chosen for this project has a 45-dB acoustic rating and reduces sound transfer - ideal for a flexible partition between two meeting rooms.

From the plans being approved, all design, manufacture and installation work took place within an agreed four-week window to allow Insite to fit out the rest of the workspace ahead of Peninsula's arrival.
