Considering acoustic comfort within open plan working environments is essential. The experts at Ben Johnson Interiors were aware of this when putting together the design for this stylish break out space at the Leeds based office of SharkNinja.

Having helped provide similar solutions in the past, Ben Johnson Interiors turned to Creatif for an effective solution that didn't compromise the clean design of the space.

Our Whisper acoustic ceiling grid helps to eliminate noise distraction by not only absorbing sound that touches the surface of the material, but also by trapping sound within the gaps. And we might be biased, but we think they look the part, too!
