A flexible approach to working is needed when you have a seemingly ever-expanding team like the London branch of global data specialists, Splunk.

To accommodate their growing workforce, Splunk wanted to expand their office space. With a need for functional, flexible space Creatif assisted by manufacturing and installing several sets of moving Float panels featuring a combination of writable surfaces for collaborative working complimented by a wireframe mesh, and multiple acoustic Whisper polyester panels featuring a decorative cut-out pattern for added visual impact.
